

Goldwater's Delegate Lines Holding Firm

Gov. Scranton's Bid For Nomination Not Catching Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's delegate lines held firm today while Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's attempted blitz for the GOP presidential nomination showed no signs of catching fire.

With former Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce scheduled for the spotlight in the opening platform hearings tonight, Goldwater strategists remained so confident of his convention strength they made no move to break apart the Ohio and Wisconsin favorite son delegations from which they might gain additional votes.

710 Committed Votes

As matters stood, Goldwater had 710 publicly committed votes in The Associated Press survey, a comfortable margin over the 655 necessary for the nomination. Scranton had 146, plus the 105 in the name of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and 45 committed to Henry Cabot Lodge, now the Pennsylvania governor's personal campaign adviser.

There remained 186 uncommitted delegates and 113 tied up to favorite sons, a relatively limited field in which Scranton could prosper. Of Goldwater's 700-plus, only a relatively small number were firmly bound by primary or convention action, but the others showed no signs of deserting him.

There were reports Sunday that Gov. James A. Rhodes had released Ohio's 58 votes from their first-ballot commitment to him as a favorite son. These reports were followed by others that Rep. John W. Byrnes would turn loose the 30-vote Wisconsin delegation. Either of these moves would have been interpreted as a sign of panic on the part of Goldwater's managers. Both were promptly denied.

The Arizona senator's camp has claimed nothing in either state. But in each there are indications that he would get more than half of the votes if the delegates were freed of their favorite son commitments.

No Word On Change

Ohio State Chairman Ray Bliss said in an interview here that he had had no word from Rhodes of any change in that

Police Use Tear Gas, Dogs

200 Youths Cited In 5 Holiday Riots

By The Associated Press

Police used tear gas, dogs and cattle prods to break up Fourth of July riots by youths at five places from coast to coast.

About 200 persons were arrested. Several officers and rioters were injured.

The riots occurred at Indian Lake, near Bellefontaine, Ohio;

Newport, R.I.; Garnett, Kan.;

West Yellowstone, Mont., and Pleasanton, Calif.

At Indian Lake, an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 beer-drinking college youths staged boisterous demonstrations Friday and Saturday nights.

"These kids were like a keg of dynamite waiting for something to set them off," a sheriff said.

More than 50 young men were arrested on the two nights. Tear gas was used to quell the rioting.

Authorities said firecrackers thrown into the crowds, injuring several youths, probably triggered the Saturday melee.

One police officer suffered a heart attack.

Near Newport, R.I., thousands of youths attending the jazz festival started to whoop it up at a beach party. Beach house doors, beach umbrellas and a lifeguard stand were among items tossed onto a huge bonfire, police said.

About 100 youths were taken to jail when they hurled rocks and other missiles at officers.

Police cleared the beach in about 90 minutes.

At Garnett, Kan., about 2,000 beer-drinking youths started a riot on an outdoor dance floor Saturday night. Two officers were burned by exploding cherry bombs.

Thousands had converged on the small Kansas town — pop. 3,000 — for the annual sports car races.

Police dogs bit several persons while helping to herd the unruly crowd to Garnett city park.

Police used electric cattle prods and nightsticks to get things under control.

At West Yellowstone, Mont., about 30 residents used ax handles against a mob of 1,000 teen-agers and college-age youngsters Saturday night after the mob tore down fences, tipped over outdoor toilets and signs, and demolished a trailer for bonfire fuel in the resort town. Four young men were jailed.

At Pleasanton, Calif., the annual Alameda County fair was

Four Persons Slightly Hurt In Accidents

District Highways Fairly Safe Over Holiday Weekend

Columbiana County highways were a fairly safe place to be over the Independence Day weekend, judging by the accident tally of the Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol.

Although the barracks investigated 14 mishaps, most of them were minor with only four persons slightly hurt in two of the accidents.

Sgt. Ralph Rizzo, officer-in-charge, said that traffic was slightly lighter than usual for most Fourth's, a condition probably brought on by the cooler-than-normal temperatures that deterred persons from venturing onto highways.

Hurt in two mishaps were: Mrs. Patricia J. Liebhart, 20, of 750½ S. Freedom St., Alliance, abrasions of the left wrist and contusions of the right elbow.

Forrest Van Newkirk, 22, of RD 3, Lisbon, cuts on hands and left leg.

Paul McGrew, 36, of RD 1, Wellsville, cuts on the forehead and hands and bruised left leg.

McGrew's wife, Clara, 35, deep facial cuts.

Mrs. Liebhart was taken to Alliance City Hospital for treatment and the others to East Liverpool City Hospital. Newkirk was admitted and is listed in fairly good condition while the McGreys were treated and released.

Mrs. Liebhart was hurt Sunday night at 10:30 on Township Rd. 703 (Hahn Rd.), just south of Homeworth in a collision between a car driven by her husband, James, 22, and one operated by Robert N. McLaughlin, 18, of RD 1 Homeworth. Both were leading toward Homeworth when Liebhart tried to pass McLaughlin, sideswiping him. The impact caused Liebhart to lose control of his car, which went off the left side of the road and overturned.

Liebhart was cited for improper passing.

Holiday Road Deaths Hit Record Toll

By The Associated Press

The nation's traffic deaths weekend hit a record toll for a three-day observance of the holiday.

The Associated Press count of deaths on the highway from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight, local time Sunday was 477. Be-lated reports were expected to increase the total.

The heavy death toll compared to the previous high of 442, set in a three-day Independence Day holiday period in 1960.

There was a sharp increase in fatalities in the last 24 hours of the 78-hour holiday period, with more than 175 deaths reported.

The National Safety Council had estimated the traffic deaths would total between 450 and 550. The council, until Sunday, had been hopeful that the final total would be below its pre-holiday estimate. But with millions of motorists homeward bound from resorts and vacations, the death rate rose far above the earlier pace.

Mississippi Racial Barriers Crumble

Negro Leaders Call For More Rights Tests In State

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Negro leaders plan to move further into Mississippi today to inspect civil rights developments after quietly integrating several previously all-white facilities—including two hotels—in Jackson.

Officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People registered without incident Sunday at two downtown hotels and a motel, then received service in the coffee shop of one—all without incident.

Four unidentified Negro youths attended a previously all-white movie theater and more than a dozen Negroes in several cars were served at a drive-in cafe for whites. At the drive-in, all four tires on one car were slashed while its Negro passengers were inside.

Charles Evers, state field secretary for the NAACP, said the four-day civil rights inspection tour would continue today with the group's officials leaving Jackson for Canton, then a visit to Philadelphia in the afternoon and a mass meeting in Meridian tonight.

The trip to Philadelphia apparently will concern the case of three civil rights workers missing since June 21. The trio vanished after their release from jail, where they had been taken on a speeding charge.

Biracial groups of more than a dozen board members and staffers of the NAACP arrived in Jackson on three different flights Sunday to begin the statewide inspection tour.

The first racial barriers fell when two of the group checked into the Heidelberg Hotel. Detectives and newsmen witnessed the first registration of Negroes at a downtown hotel since Reconstruction days.

After spending 20 minutes in their room, the two returned to the main floor where they were joined by three other Negroes. All entered the hotel's coffee shop, and were served.

Later, a five-member biracial group checked into the King Edward Hotel, a few blocks away. They caused little attention and no incident.

About the same time, a six-member Negro group went to the Sun-N-San motel. The clerk said simply, "Sign in, please."

Newsman and detectives watched. Other guests paid little attention.

The NAACP leaders said they would try to meet with Gov. Paul Johnson before leaving Jackson. Johnson said earlier he had no plans to meet with the group.

Salem Man Revived By Lifeguard

Swimmer Breaks Neck At Westville

A swimming accident at Westville Lake Sunday resulted in a broken neck for a Salem father of two and nearly cost him his life.

Howard Adams, 30, of 237 Washington Ave. was with a family outing when the mishap occurred early Sunday afternoon.

Adams dived into the lake at the shallow end and when he surfaced, he was face-down in the water, witnesses said. Several children playing in the area thought he was just floating and pushed him around in the water.

One spectator thought he was in trouble because of his unusual position and summoned his wife, who said he liked to float in the water and was not then alarmed.

Finally, after he didn't turn over for air after almost five minutes, Miss Linda Ward, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ward of RD 1, Salem, lifeguard at the lake, went in after him.

Brought to Shore

She was aided by Ray Daidet of Alliance and Dan Dennis of Beloit, who pulled him in to shore. By this time, Adams was blue and had no pulse.

Miss Ward started administering mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, which, according to the authorities, saved the man's life. She is credited by John Runzo, owner of the lake, with doing a "wonderful job" in reviving him.

The Sebring Fire Department, which had been called by Runzo, arrived in just eight minutes and the North Georgetown Fire Department arrived soon after. The victim was rushed by ambulance to Salem Central

Ike's Brother To Nominate Gov. Scranton

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania announced today that Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of the former president, will nominate Scranton at the Republican National Convention next week.

Scranton opened a news conference with this statement:

"I am delighted and pleased to announce that Dr. Milton Eisenhower will nominate me for president at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco. Gen. Eisenhower knows about this and is very pleased about it. The general said that was the best news he heard yet."

Scranton spoke with reporters early in a fast two-day appeal for Illinois support built around the civil rights issue.

Scranton opened a last-ditch campaign in the

Some U.S. Officials Skeptical About Reports

Taylor to Take Hard Look At Sources of Viet Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor's assumption of U.S. leadership in South Viet Nam may bring more accurate, and perhaps more balanced, information to Washington on the course of the war.

Reliable assessments from the field are imperative if the government is to be guided properly in its decisions on the conduct of U.S. efforts to help the South Vietnamese overcome Communist rebellion.

Certain key American officials here say they have been skeptical about the estimates and reports sent in from South Viet Nam.

This is not to suggest they have felt U.S. military and diplomatic authorities in Saigon have tried to delude the White House, State Department and the Defense Department.

But some Washington officials have doubts about the way the information is gathered, the sources, and the judgments made on the basis of this information.

They acknowledge that accurate assessments are difficult in a war characterized by hundreds of small unit actions and a country whose peasant population is widely scattered through jungle, mountain and swampy delta.

It is known that Taylor, now on his way to take over as U.S. ambassador in South Viet Nam, intends to look very hard at the sources of information.

It is known, too, that Taylor believes the views of all observers should be reflected in the reports to Washington. This would give Washington the benefit of varying viewpoints from both soldiers and civilians on the scene.

The four-star general, who returned as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to take over leadership of the entire U.S. effort in Viet Nam, expects to return to Washington about once every three months to report directly to President Johnson and other top policy makers.

But, it is known, he has no intention of looking over the shoulder of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. military commander in South Viet Nam.

Taylor's job, as he sees it, is to pull together the entire U.S. civilian and military program into one effective package.

50 July 4 Revelers Cited In Lake Riots

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — The July Fourth revelers who found their holiday fun in weekend riots at nearby Indian Lake will begin learning the consequences at the end of the week.

The sheriff's office said hearings will begin Friday in Russell's Point Mayor's Court for the more than 50 persons arrested in the riots.

Only about three of those arrested were still in jail late Sunday night, deputies said. The rest were released on bonds ranging from $50 to $200.

The demonstrations, on both Friday and Saturday nights, marked the fourth straight year that rioting has marred the resort area's holiday celebration. Most of those arrested were of college age.

They probably will receive stiff fines and three-to-four-day jail terms, Logan County Sheriff Donald Horn said.

Eleven youths were arrested during Friday night's demonstration before authorities broke

Republican Camp Split on Rights Wording In Platform

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 1964 Republican platform writers start work today amid a struggle between Goldwater and Scranton supporters over what stand the party should take on civil rights.

As former Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce prepared to lead off a week's testimony from nearly 200 witnesses, the platform committee chairman, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, listed proposed platform wording concerning the new civil rights law as a main point of conflict between the rival camps.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, convention manager for presidential hopeful William W. Scranton, Pennsylvania governor, called an informal meeting of from eight to a dozen of the 105 platform committee members.

Scott said his aim is to persuade some like-minded delegates to work for inclusion of what he termed "moderate, progressive" planks in the party document.

Backers of Barry Goldwater saw Scott's move as an effort to wean support away from the Arizona senator. Goldwater's representative on the committee, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, said he expects the rival candidate's forces to try to write into the platform wording unacceptable to Goldwater, an avowed conservative.

Goldwater voted against the civil rights bill on grounds that two major provisions are unconstitutional. Scott said Scranton would propose platform language declaring the measure constitutional.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Willie Clark, 30, of Dayton was recovering today from bullet wounds in the arm and legs suffered when he tried to escape police. They sought to arrest him in a cutting incident on the West Side in which a woman received minor injuries.

Police called to the scene of the cutting said they saw Clark running up an alley about midnight Saturday. When they warned him to halt, they said, he failed to obey and they first fired into the air, then shot him in the legs. As they waited for an ambulance, Clark got up from the ground and started running but police shot him in the arm.

G.I. Wounded In East Berlin

Army Says Robbery Apparently Motive

BERLIN (AP)—An American soldier was shot in a quiet side street of Communist-ruled East Berlin Sunday night and found by a passing U.S. officer.

The wounded soldier was brought back to West Berlin and placed in a military hospital where his condition was described as satisfactory.

A U.S. Army spokesman said, "The motive for the shooting was apparently robbery as the soldier reported his money was missing."

Army surgeons removed a small-caliber bullet from the soldier's stomach. He was shot in the right side of his back, just above the belt line.

The victim's name was withheld here pending notification of his next of kin, but in Oklahoma City, Mrs. Stanley Coppage said she received a telegram late Sunday night informing her that her son, Pfc. John M. Coppage, 19, had been seriously wounded in a shooting incident in East Berlin.

Coppage was stationed at Heilbronn, in West Germany, but wrote home last week that he planned a tour with an Army buddy.

The wounded soldier was found in a street leading to East Berlin's Red Square.

He had been on a bus tour of East Berlin and missed his bus, authorities said. He began walking back to Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing point in the Berlin wall for Allied personnel. He was in uniform.

U.S. troops are allowed to visit East Berlin if they are in uniform.

BLANTYRE, Malawi (AP)—After a moment of silence at midnight, 50,000 voices in the stadium roared "Ufumu" (independence).

Throughout the Indiana-sized nation, bonfires blazed on prominent peaks. A party of whites and Africans climbed 10,000-foot Mt. Malanje, the country's highest peak, to plant the new flag and light the nation's largest bonfire.

For Banda, a 58-year-old physician who attended Harvard Medical School, the ceremonies marked the end of a six-year struggle to win independence for his people. Although a determined nationalist, Banda is essentially pro-western and anxious to attract investors to develop his country's largely agricultural economy.

Britain has promised to cover Malawi's budget deficit, now $11.9 million, for the next five years. Britain and the United States are pouring in technical and financial aid.

Official ceremonies centered on Blantyre, the main town in this mountainous south central African nation of 3.9 million Africans, 8,000 whites and 12,000 Asians.

No Casualties Reported In Mexico Quake

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A sharp earthquake hit Mexico City early today, and all lights in the center of the capital went out.

It was the sharpest earthquake Mexico City has experienced since 1957.

Three minor earthquakes were felt Sunday in northern Sonora and Baja California, in northwest Mexico, but no casualty, but some areas remained dark.

Electric power was restored quickly in many parts of the city, but some areas remained dark.

Many people were frightened and ran into the streets.

In the 1957 earthquake 66 persons were killed and there was considerable damage.

Telephone lines to other areas of Mexico were down, and there was no immediate way of telling whether other areas were hit.

Large crowds, mostly tourists in night attire, poured from hotels.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Planning a Vacation?

If you are planning a trip, you will be wise to check with your doctor about immunizing shots. Nothing can spoil a vacation like an illness.

If you expect to spend some time in outdoor sports, your tetanus toxoid injections or if you have had them, a booster. Get small pox vaccination if you plan to leave the United States. Without a valid certificate of vaccination you will have trouble getting back into this country.

IF YOUR TRIP will take you into areas where the water supply is polluted, you should have typhoid and paratyphoid shots. These are usually combined. And if you have any reason to believe that you might get infectious hepatitis, have an injection of gamma globulin. All these things should be taken care of three or four weeks before you start.

While on vacation there is always a tendency to overeat. Use common sense and avoid eating more than you customarily eat at home. The object of your trip is to relax and have a good time—not to put on excess weight.

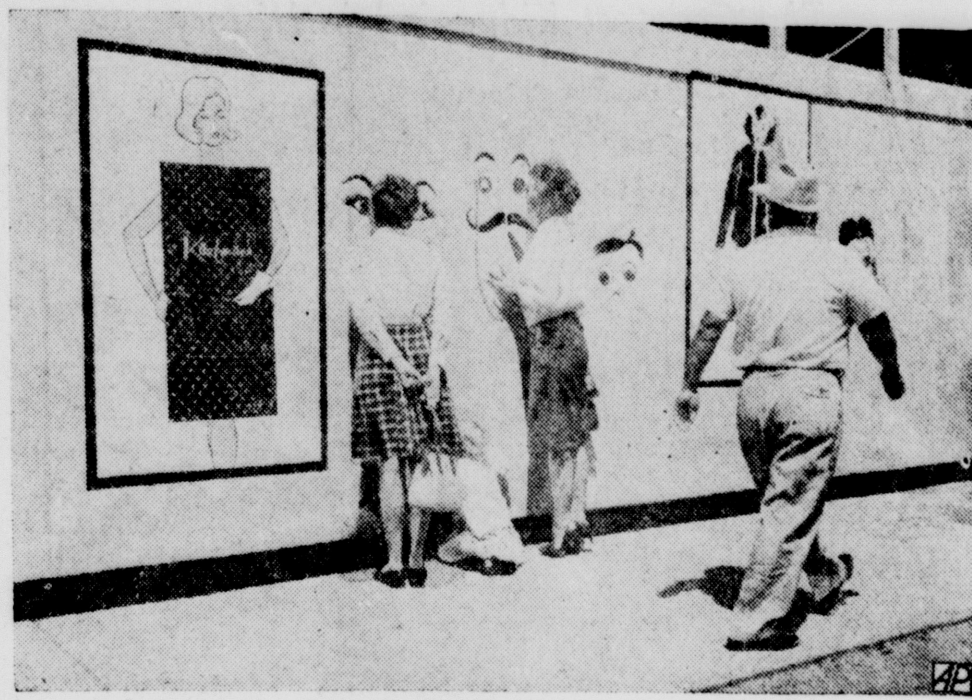

TAKE APPROPRIATE clothing with you — especially comfortable walking shoes. Remember that it gets cold in the mountains at night even after the hottest days. If you wear glasses you should carry an extra pair.

Although most medical items you may need can be picked up in the nearest town, it is well to take a kit with you because you may need some of the following items when the stores are closed:

Tweezers will be handy for removing splinters or holding a pad of sterile cotton if you have to clean a wound. The cotton is also useful, when dampened, for removing dirt from the eye. I wonder how our forefathers ever got along without adhesive bandages.

Have fun but don't overdo it. If you try to soak up a week of sunshine in one day you will wish you had stayed at home.

And if you try to play more holes of golf or more sets of tennis than you are accustomed to, you will wake up with sore muscles and stiff joints. Plan to return home refreshed instead of feeling that what you need most is another vacation.

This And That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

At the age of 25, some 35 per cent of Americans need to wear glasses.

What are the goals of teenage girls? A study showed that most want to be either housewives or airline hostesses. Only one in five preferred office work.

Teen-age boys, on the other hand, showed interest in careers in aviation, professional athletics, business, the armed forces, and engineering. Missing among the top 20 occupational choices of male high school seniors were roles as scientist, newspaperman, doctor, minister, teacher—or president of the United States.

Twenty million Americans are taking care of 650 million pet fish.

Quotable notables: "Worry affects the circulation, the heart, the glands, the whole nervous system. I have never known a man who died from overwork, but many who died from doubt."—Dr. Charles H. Mayo.

Nature notes: Rodents cause more property damage than tornadoes. A rattlesnake usually grows two, not one, rattles each year. Meadowlarks aren't true larks—they belong to the blackbird family. Giraffes have such poor voices they "talk" to each other by switching their tails.

U.N. medical studies indicate that the United States now has passed France as the world's most alcoholic nation. One out of 20 Americans is thought to be a problem drinker.

"There are more oil glands per square inch on a woman's face than there are oil wells in Texas," says Dr. John R. Haserick, Cleveland skin specialist.

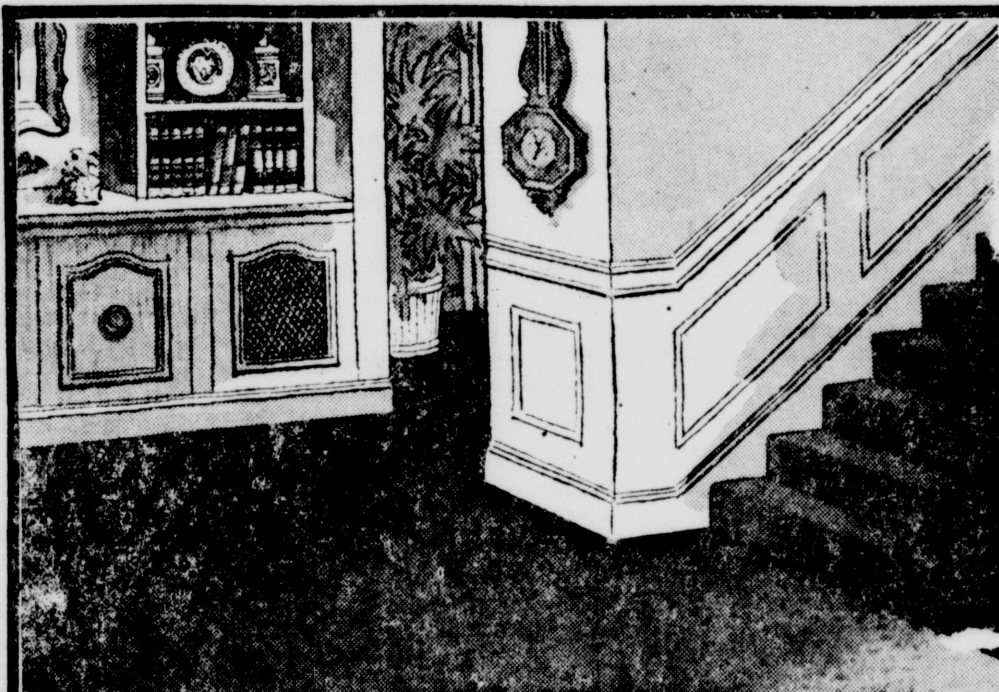

The originator of the presidential "whistle-stop campaign" was William Jennings Bryan. In 1896 he traveled 18,000 miles by railroad and made 600 speeches. William McKinley waged a back-porch campaign—and won handily.

Folklore: If you see a red-haired girl, you will soon see a white horse. If you throw a small fish back into the water, it will tell the other fish, and no more will bite. It is bad luck to kill a daddy-longlegs or a ladybug. If a girl gets the front of her dress wet while doing her laundry, she will marry a drunkard.

It was Oscar Wilde who observed, "The books that the world calls immoral are books that show the world its own shame."

The Law of the Land

There appears to be little question the newly enacted civil rights law will be tested down the line until the entire law, or at least the more controversial sections of it, goes to the U.S. Supreme Court.

This is perfectly natural. Negroes and whites sympathetic to the civil rights movement want to know whether the piece of paper President Johnson has signed is really to be the law of the land or just a piece of paper.

BUT AS of now, it is the law of the land. As such should be complied with by the people of this land which towers in the world community because of its respect for law.

Our sincere hope is that compliance will come without deep bitterness and rancor. We hope, too, that enforcement of this new and historic law will be neither too sudden nor too harsh.

For it must be remembered that this law goes to the heart of a great many social, economic and political factors.

The nation has chosen to seek social justice through legislation, believing that the cure of time alone is too slow and ineffective.

Time will be required, however, for full acceptance of this law. Legislation itself will not cause an overnight shift in basic attitudes and beliefs which have been hundreds of years in the making.

It will behoove the government to take this into full consideration in its enforcement procedures. White deliberate defiance of the law should not be tolerated, we believe harsh, sudden enforcement measures could provoke more violence and ill will between the races than that which was witnessed during the stormy prelude to the law.

THE EYES of the entire world are fastened now on the United States as it seeks to solve a problem that has existed far too long.

This country's prestige, its standing among the free nations of the world, will depend on our own reaction to this turning point in history.

Time to Weigh Space Costs

A close and significant vote in the U.S. Senate wet almost unnoticed the other day, overshadowed by weightier and possibly more dramatic congressional action.

But the Senate's surprisingly narrow rejection of an amendment to cut the $5.2 billion space budget for 1965 points to an increasing awareness, we think, that the time for a drastic reappraisal of this nation's spending in space is close at hand.

The amendment, pushed by Arkansas Democrat William Fulbright, would have chopped 10 per cent from the budget for Project Apollo, the manned lunar expedition tentatively scheduled for 1970. Apollo squeaked through unscathed, but with only four votes to spare.

THE FACT Fulbright was able to muster so much support for his amendment could mean the worth of Apollo will be scrutinized more thoroughly when the time comes for Congress to appropriate the money the Senate authorized.

There is reason to believe the Senate's reluctance to give overwhelming approval to the lunar spending signifies a change in the national attitude toward space conquests.

When President Kennedy first sponsored the man-on-the-moon project three years ago he had widespread support. U.S. prestige was at stake. National pride had been jarred by Russia's success and the feeling was strong that if the Soviets beat us to the moon the nation would be plunged into deep scientific and political embarrassment.

But now the memories of the Soviet space accomplishments have dimmed. Americans are having second thoughts about the cost and propaganda value of being first on the moon.

Almost $3 billion has been authorized for the lunar project in 1965. Estimates of the total cost of planting an American flag on the moon by 1970 range up to $40 billion, or nearly $10,000 a mile for a single round trip.

While there is general agreement that space research has a beneficial side effect in the discovery of new civilian products, some of the nation's leading civilian researchers have complained essential industrial talent is in dangerously short supply because of the moon race.

SPACE and military contractors are bidding hard for scientists and engineers. This not only craters a shortage of talent in private industry, it forces industry to match or exceed high government-project salaries. This in turn drains capital for new product development.

We're not anxious to take a back seat to the Soviets, but reports of economic difficulties in Russia have raised doubt about Moscow's capabilities for waging an all-out moon race.

It seems this might be the logical time to re-examine our own economic needs on earth before venturing much further along the costly road to the moon.

Smart Young Man

Leonard Tagg is a youth to be reckoned with.

And the lawmakers of Massachusetts are laboring overtime to reckon with him and the problem he has created.

Leonard has announced himself as a candidate for the House of Representatives as an independent. He has gathered nearly all the 1,200 signatures he needs to enter the contest yet he can't legally sign the petition himself because he is not a registered voter. He can't even vote for himself though no one legally can deny him the right to run. Leonard is only 16 years old.

Apparently the drafters of the Massachusetts Constitution neglected to place any age qualification on candidates for state office. To file for a party primary, one must be a registered Democrat or Republican—thus at least 21. That doesn't affect independent candidates.

All the constitution says about candidates for the House is that they must have been residents of their districts for at least one year, be able to write their own names and also to read the constitution, which Leonard obviously did, finding a loophole that may make him the youngest duly elected legislator in Massachusetts' history.

At least the big question in Massachusetts today is: Has the "Stop Leonard Tagg" drive come too late?

Some observers say it would be absurd to have a 16-year-old in the House. Others think a smart young man like Leonard might be an improvement. It would be worth a try.

Letter From Max

By Martin R. Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

With your long experience in being around animals, starting with horses in your childhood and several decades later with sheep, you probably have some opinions about the relative intelligences of our animal friends. Such a discussion is usually good for an hour or two, by the time everybody gets through stretching his stories.

We have a dog that is smart enough to unwrap its chain when it gets wound around the doghouse, but the beast does it by trial and error, first circling the doghouse one way and then another until the chain stretches out to its full length.

We also have a cat that can open a screen door from the outside, pulling the door toward it with its claws. This sounds like more of a feat that the dog does with its chain but I am reserving judgement until I can find such accomplishments compared on a cat-dog intelligence chart.

Aside from the cat and dog, the creatures I have had the most experience with are chickens and rats.

You probably could have predicted this but I have to admit that I found the most rapport with bird-brained chickens. I fed them and they laid eggs. We understand each other.

And I was just enough smarter than a chicken to catch it when the occasion required it. Perhaps my presumed edge in intelligence is the real reason I liked chickens. We'll have to see what the book says about that.

As for the rats, you can have them. They're too smart for me.

First of all they climbed the outside wall of the chicken coop to a hole seven feet from the ground to get inside the coop. Then they gnawed a hole in the floor.

Then they burrowed all around underneath the coop and the adjoining garage.

When gunfire, poison and traps were turned against them they just gave their rat-like laugh and multiplied.

Although a few rats were caught in a box trap, the trap also caught a pheasant attracted by the corn bait and another time it caught a 'possum. You never can tell about traps. Do you think 'possums and pheasants are dumber than rats?

One big advantage these rodents had over me was that they had a sort of sanctuary on nearby farms where I could not get at their bases. Possible the farmers were fighting them, too, but they kept on pouring across the boundary to our place.

It may have been possible to carry the battle against them into the neighboring territory but this would have risked escalating the war and involving other wise friendly powers, such as the farmers.

We never had any definite word from the rats but they never seemed to be bothered particularly by any cats we had.

Being carried away by the rats I almost forgot to tell you that fish are definitely smarter than I. They have always managed to ignore my bait, except for one summer when food must have been scarce and they bit well. Fish must be about as smart as rats.

Hoping the fish give you some food for thought,

Faithfully yours,
"Chicken" Max

The Greatest Kidnaping in History

A Trip To The Moon

While Victor Riesel is on a trip to Africa and Eastern Europe a number of prominent national figures are pinch-hitting as columnists for him.

By WERNHER VON BRAUN
Director, Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.

Before the end of this decade a huge Saturn V rocket will blast off from Cape Kennedy to send three courageous Americans to the moon in an Apollo spacecraft. What will they find there? How will men live and work on the moon?

A trip to the moon is primarily an exploration into the unknown, and it ranks with the epic voyages of Marco Polo, Columbus or Magellan. The lunar explorers will head toward a landing site selected years in advance.

The choice of Lunar Orbital Rendezvous as the step-by-step method of getting to the moon limits the initial landing to a rather narrow belt of latitudes near the lunar equator.

Since the unmanned probes in the Ranger and Surveyor programs can reach the leading quadrant of the moon easier than other longitudes, the sites they survey will be within the moon's longitudes of 270 to 360 degrees.

THROUGH observations from earth, we know quite a bit about our next-door neighbor in space. The unmanned lunar missions will increase our knowledge of the major factors about its lunar surface — its roughness, surface strength, the steepness of its slopes and its electromagnetic properties.

From their orbit of the moon in the three-module Apollo spacecraft, two men will descend toward the moon's surface in the lunar excursion module, commonly called The Bug. Their throttleable rocket engine can be throttled down to hover just above the designated site.

If they see boulders, crevices or steep slopes through the cockpit windows, they can move sideways to avoid them.

The Bug descends slowly, its insect-like landing gear extended. The rocket exhaust digs into the moon's frothy lava surface and adds another small crater to the pock-marked face. The Bug settles down with a crunch and a small jolt about like that of a helicopter landing. The landing will not be visible from earth, even with our most powerful telescopes.

DEPRESSURIZING The Bug, one spacesuit-clad astronaut backs down a metal ladder and becomes the first earthman to set foot on another heavenly body. He has a majestic view of the heavens. There is not a cloud in the black sky, which is studded with non-twinkling stars.

All around him lies a cold, silent land of startling desolation. The horizon seems to be a lot closer than on earth because of the moon's smaller size and greater surface curvature.

Crater rims form a rough silhouette against the black void of space. The lunar landscape is generally low relief, although some mountains, which form a part of the rim or wall for the maria, slope upward five miles high from their base.

Are the craters old volcanoes, or the scars of meteorites? Or are they volcanoes created by meteorite impacts? Was the moon once molten?

Keys to its 4.5-billion-year-old history may lie undisturbed on the lunar surface. Changes to the moon's surface are expected to come primarily from bombardment by meteorites and solar radiation. And this is feeble in geologic time, compared with the rapidity of earth's erosion.

THE PRIMARY rock which is expected to make up the moon's surface may well be altered by million of years of bombardment by tiny, high velocity particles and subsequent fusing of the debris in the hard vacuum. The result could be rock froth, fibrous or even needle-like structures.

Frothy rock could present a weak surface but, like snow, it would increase in bearing strength with depth, either through density or compaction. The astronaut should be able to move about without too much difficulty, leaving footprints as if he were walking in snow or thick ashes.

In the moon's light gravity, our explorer will feel like a giant, with unprecedented strength. His suit and life support pack, which weighed 60 pounds at the Cape, weigh 10 pounds here. He moves about in slow but exceedingly long steps, careful not to snag a hole in his suit, for it represents a small life-sustaining capsule of earth's environment, offering a somewhat reduced atmospheric pressure, breathing oxygen and temperature control.

IN ADDITION, his bio-pack contains facilities for removing carbon monoxide, moisture and other contaminants, medical monitoring equipment and a vital communications system.

Around his shoulders he may fling a Buck Rogers-type cape of a reflective metallic material for added protection against micro-meteorite hits and radiation.

The exact scientific experiments to be conducted on the first lunar landing will be drawn from the following areas: field geology, petrography, mineralogy, geochemistry, biology and geophysics, subdivided into seismology, magnetism, gravity, heat and electric measurements.

We have a lot of questions to ask of the moon. Our ability to obtain all the answers will be primarily limited by the element of crew fatigue during the first pioneering voyage.

Nevertheless, the first explorers will bring back samples of the lunar surface, and they will undoubtedly carry small hand cameras to give viewers on earth a close-up television scenario, relayed within minutes they land.

The first round trip to the moon will be a week-long journey. The first order of business on this trip is not science but survival and successful mission accomplishment.

Later stays will be longer when we are able to provide our astronauts with what every traveler needs away from home—a motel room and a you-drive-it car.

NEXT: Murder, Mayhem and Muscle vs. Law on Chicago streets by the director of the Illinois Crime Investigating Commission, Charles Siragusa.

Matter of Fact

Karl Marx, the most important figure in the history of socialist thinking, was born in Prussia of Jewish parentage. His father embraced Christianity and the whole family was baptized in the Protestant faith. Marx once considered journalism as a career. He was once the editor of a Cologne newspaper, and he covered the American Civil War for the New York Tribune when Charles Dana was the managing editor.

Political Cynicism

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In the final days before any contest that captures widespread interest, the public is generally overwhelmed by a mass of information, misinformation, rumors, guesses, predictions, and propaganda by the special interests concerned. This is true of a murder trial, a championship prize fight, a world's series, primaries, conventions, and elections.

It's not strange that a good deal of it finds its way into the media of news and opinion. For these media are created to interest and inform the public. And the public is always interested in what has been unexpected.

The best advice at this moment for Mr. and Mrs. Public is keep calm, drink plenty of cool water and get eight hours of sleep. Much of what you are hearing is not so, or not important, or is designed to alarm you.

Bear in mind that the method by which presidential candidates are named was created about 130 years ago. It isn't perfect. No man-made institution is perfect. But it's the best way a nation knows to govern itself in this vital area of decision-making.

THE NATIONAL convention succeeded several other methods of selecting presidential candidates. One was a congressional caucus — called by its critics, King Caucus. Another was selection by state legislatures. And there were others.

The convention is a form of representative government. Delegates are selected by one method or another and then are supposed to vote as they believe best for their party or according to the directives of their constituents.

In the present instance the contest is between Sen. Goldwater and those who are against him. In certain mysterious ways that need not be described here, Gov. Scranton has been selected to challenge the leading contender.

If the wheel of chance had stopped somewhere else, the name might have been Rockefeller, Lodge, Nixon or Stassen. For this is not a choice that is seriously based upon a widespread conviction that this estimable young man is best qualified to be president of the United States.

HIS OFFICIAL record is scanty and his views have yet to be promulgated. He is against somebody and is seeking to show by various weird conjurations of figures (a) that the nomination of that somebody is not the choice of Republicans, and (b) that President Johnson would beat that somebody.

He is not even attempting to prove that the aforementioned Republicans, if they had a chance to choose would select the governor of Pennsylvania as the best of all eligible Republicans. Nor is he showing how the governor of Pennsylvania would fare in a contest against President Johnson.

To accomplish his purpose, he is driving at a spot in politicians' armor which has been vulnerable in the past. He is telling delegates that the man to whom they are either legally or morally committed can't win if nominated. This tactic worked in 1952 when the same method was used against the late Sen. Taft.

IT IS A CYNICAL attack, because it is based upon the assumption that the political people who have been selected as delegates would, if their self-interest dictates, abandon commitments, desert their instructions, and break their promises. This is not nice conduct for a young and promising man who is just starting a career in national politics.

To achieve this purpose, the people who are guiding his fortunes have brought out the pollsters from their temporary loss of face after their egregious mistakes in Oregon and California to prove a case against Goldwater.

Working for the Scranton objective is a backwash of bitter propaganda against Goldwater which has been continuous for two years. The same attacks have been made so many times. The misinterpretation of Goldwater's position has been repeated so often that it is assumed that what was once doubted and denied will be accepted as true.

This psychological impact can happen to any man, if enough people repeat a charge. If enough new charges can be made against him, people may well believe that "where there is so much smoke there must be some fire."

IS THIS the way to select or not to select a candidate for President of the United States? What, it may be asked, can these activists against Goldwater say if the Arizona senator is selected as their party's candidate? Can they support a man for president whom they have repeatedly called an enemy of the republic and a peril to the peace of the world?

The answer is that they can and will. And because they can and will, they once more will prove how cynical is the practice of their profession.

So I repeat my advice. Keep calm. Take plenty of salt with your daily dose of information. And let the delegates decide. For the convention is the method Americans have chosen to select their candidates, after generations of trial and error.

TV-Radio Today

By ALAN GILL
Summer Notes

There is probably no great point to be made in hurling chunks of gravel at summer television. Summer is TV's time for recouping since, production expenses on each of the successful series are paid off in re-runs. (The show that doesn't rate a second showing is always out of pocket a good deal of change.) Summer is also, alas, the time when the studios are in a lather putting together the shows for fall.

There seems to be no choice, then, but to feed the public the same meal it's just completed. A viewer is just wiping his mouth on his sleeve and there, as if by magic, in his plate sits another baloney sandwich.

But the networks also realize they must relieve the monotony a bit by tossing off a light salad now and again. The side courses this July and August are named Meredith Willson and Rudy Vallee. Vallee's show is coming along this Wednesday night on CBS-TV as a showcase for young talent. It's called "On Broadway Tonight" and it features first time out, one star (Paul Anka) and a few fledglings.

WE'VE ALREADY HAD a look at a couple of Meredith Willson's specials, though. "Star Parade," CBS project for an occasional Tuesday evening, is, as we've all doubtlessly detected, a kind of kissin' cousin to "The Jimmy Dean Show," with a few extra trombones thrown in. The mood is small-town, Fourth-of-July, hound-dog, barbershop quartette, corn flakes and big-brass-band, and it has its charms.

Its greatest charm for me is in watching Mr. Willson closely and waiting for him to melt. I know he was entertaining me on radio's "Maxwell House Coffee Hour" and other such diversions a few years ago when I was no taller'n a June bug, and I have a suspicion that he was entertaining my mother when she was still skipping rope and learning to sew buttons on shoes. Today, on "Star Parade," he looks all of 22 and I wonder how he does it.

WHATEVER OTHER charms the show has have skipped my mind just this moment, but I'll think of them just as soon as somebody brings me my hairpiece, teeth and ear trumpet. We forget, we old people.

Other nations, I suppose, treat their citizens to the same sort of thing in summer — re-runs, re-runs, re-runs and Rudy Vallee. But I noted in Variety the other day that England's BBC has a short, light, strawberry-punch series going for it for the next 13 weeks. It has taken 13 walloping yarns written by Rudyard Kipling and it's dramatizing them with the idea of proving that Kipling was a "great storyteller and not simply an animal lover or a jingo."

If CBS would look into the yarns of, say, Stephen Crane and Stephen Vincent Benet, Jack London and Bernard Malamud, or even O. Henry and Damon Runyon, it would come up with something light enough for July, I'd guess, but certainly more rewarding than "Star Parade." The English, it's true, are a story-loving race; and maybe the networks are finding out that we are not, that we prefer Meredith Willson to "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge" or "Johnny Pie and the Fool-Killer." But I hope it isn't so.

NOW, LET ME QUICKLY mention another matter — the complaints I've read and heard concerning TV's lukewarm editorial attitude in its reports of the civil rights story. After the CBS and ABC specials on the events in Philadelphia, Miss., and St. Augustine, Fla., there were some critics who felt that the network newsmen should have put as much sting in their words as, say, David Brinkley did in his examination of the political attitudes of Salem, N. J., a couple of weeks ago.

It seems to me, though, that after you have watched the searches in the Mississippi swamps and the brawlers on the Florida beach — after you've heard the segregationists and the equalrighters speak — the words of a newsmen seem rather superfluous. After you have been through a bonfire, you don't have to be informed that fire is hot or that blisters are bad.

I can think of no other continuing story that so proves television's force as a news medium, where straight reporting can be as blatant as an editorial.

Tshombe to Try to Form Government

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Moise Tshombe, former secessionist president of Katanga Province, announced today he would try to form a new Congolese government with himself as premier.

Tshombe said President Joseph Kasavubu had named him premier-designate. He said he was optimistic he could put together a Cabinet of "national reconciliation" to pacify the Congo's many warring factions.

Tshombe said he had received assurances from the Rebel Committee of National Liberation based in Brazzaville, just across the river from Leopoldville.

He added that as a token of their good faith, the rebels had ordered a halt in antigovernment hostilities in Kivu, Kivu and North Katanga provinces. Kasavubu had named Tshombe to consult with political bosses and report back. During the past week since his return from voluntary exile, he has met with leaders of all tendencies.

Tshombe will attempt to form a transitional government to prepare for new legislative elections following outgoing Premier Cyrille Adoula's resignation on June 30 and ratification of a new constitution which is now under way.

Tshombe claimed he had received the support of all save "a few individuals, athirst for power." But political observers noted that several statements signed jointly by Tshombe and other leaders were partially or wholly repudiated by the leaders almost as soon as the ink on their signatures was dry.

Like hurricanes, tornadoes have a "season" of their own, from March through June, but this cannot be depended upon because tornadoes have occurred in every month.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The high school annuals just came out. I'm sure you remember from your own high school days the excitement that filled the corridors when these prized volumes at long last were handed to the students.

Our daughter, Elsie, finished in the upper 5 per cent of her class. Elsie is not pretty and has had very few dates. She is painfully shy and in an effort to cover up her shyness she made a point of "preferring" to be alone.

The yearbook committee prints a little saying under the name of each student. Under Elsie's picture there appeared a cruel and insulting line ridiculing her aloneness.

The poor girl, sobbing through her tears, said, "I always looked forward to keeping my high school annual as a souvenir to show my children. How could I show this to anybody?"

I hope you will publish my letter, Ann. It's too late to help Elsie but perhaps some boy or girl who reads this may be on a yearbook committee in future years. They may think twice before they break someone's heart. — NO NAME PLEASE.

Dear No Name: This happens repeatedly and it is sickening. How unfair that a handful of kids has the power to cause so much unhappiness. Where are the faculty advisors?

I'd like to hear what you high school students think about this.

Note and 'Denote'

Dear Ann: A few months ago a friend was stricken with an illness that was confining but not serious. She had to be in the hospital for several days.

Since the woman lives several thousand miles from me, I didn't know what to send her so I slipped a check for $5 in an envelope and wrote a note suggesting she have the nurse buy her whatever she needed.

Weeks passed and I received no acknowledgment. Just when I was preparing to drop her a line and ask if my check had gone astray I received her letter saying:

"Dear Erma: I had so many flowers that they had to be distributed to the patients in the wards. I will never be able to get through all the books I received. I just couldn't think of a thing I needed. Here's your check for $5."

I felt as if I had been slapped right across the face. Will you please give me your opinion of this?—INSULTED.

Dear Insulted: Your gift was unimaginative and tasteless. Her response was boorish and crude.

Dear Ann Landers: Do you know of any place I can go to get my voice changed? Somehow I managed to raise five children with this voice and it didn't seem to have a bad effect on them. Now, however, I'm told that my harsh voice scares my grandchildren to death and that I'd better do something about it.

I'm 64 year old and feel that a person is never too old to learn. My husband says you can't teach an old horse new tricks, and that my voice has been good enough for him these past 35 years — and to leave it alone.

What do you say? — FRIGHTENER OF LITTLE CHILDREN.

Dear Frightener: People are not horses — they can and do learn at all ages, but I'm not going to send a 64-year-old woman to speech school to please her daughter (in-law, I'll bet!).

Turn of the Wheel

Dear Ann: Elwood and I have been married eight years. We have had our share of minor squabbles but I can truthfully say we've never had any serious trouble — until last week. For my 30th birthday he bought me a little car and is teaching me to drive.

I was smart enough to give him three fine children but suddenly I'm the dumbest, most uncoordinated person who ever lived. He says my reflexes are so slow it's a miracle I'm alive. The list of insults he has handed out since he's been trying to teach me to drive would take up your whole column.

Can it be that I am not doing very well because my husband is a poor teacher, has high blood pressure and no patience? Will you please comment? — FENDER BENDER.

Dear Bender: Even a husband who has an abundance of patience (and low blood pressure) should not attempt to teach his wife to drive.

Relieve him of this nerve-shredding job and take instructions from someone with whom you are not emotionally involved.

White Wedding

Dear Ann Landers: Our 22-year-old daughter wants a formal all-white wedding. My husband and I would like to please her but I'm afraid we would be laughed right out of this town if we give this girl her way. First: Mary Eliabeth went steady with a young man for three years. They were together night and day and I do mean night and day. He married someone else. I know very well that when Mary Eliabeth went with this young man they did things that would make her ineligible for a white wedding.

Second: The man Mary Eliabeth is marrying has been married before. In fact, he has a child by that marriage. Now—wouldn't she look ridiculous coming down the aisle all in white under the conditions described? — SENSIBLE PARENTS.

Dear Parents: If Mary Eliabeth wants a white wedding, let her have it. Girls who have gone steady (I get what you mean) do not forfeit the privilege of a white wedding. The bridegroom's previous marital record does not matter either. It's the status of the bride that counts—and nothing else.

Confidentially

To Friendless: I'm not surprised — four typewritten pages of scathing criticism against the world in general and your four "dearest friends" in particular. Why do you demand perfection in others? Are you able to deliver it yourself? The only way to have a friend is to be one. And in this way you have failed.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction ("shrinkage") took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 214. At all drug counters.

Naturally, you provide your family with

1. FOOD
2. CLOTHING
3. SHELTER

But what about

4. THE FOURTH NECESSITY?

The Fourth Necessity — enough life insurance — guarantees the first three for your family, yet it costs far less than any of them!

Naturally, you feed, clothe and house your family. These are necessities, after all. Like most people, you probably take them for granted. But what about the Fourth Necessity — enough life insurance? That's the only way to be sure your family will always have enough of everything else. Do you provide it? If not, maybe you think you can't afford it. You don't know how little the Fourth Necessity costs.

Take a man of 28 with one child now only five. Just $25 a month for life insurance could mean the following benefits: If he should die tomorrow, not only will his policy pay a lump sum of $10,000 — but it will guarantee his wife $197 a month until the five year old is 18. But chances are good he'll live — in which case he can use the same insurance for a substantial retirement income.

You can find out where you stand through Metropolitan's Family Security Check-Up. With my specially designed forms it takes only a short time to add up what you have and compare it with what you need. There is no obligation, except to those you love.

Mishaps

proper passing. Newkirk and the McGrews received their injuries in a head-on crash Sunday at 10:45 p.m. on Route 170, five miles south of Negley. Newkirk was going north and McGrew, south when Newkirk lost control on a curve, went left of center and struck the Wellsville auto. The Patrol cited Newkirk for driving left of center.

Wrecks Car After Fight

After a barroom altercation, a Lowellville man, about 23 years of age, drove off the left side of Route 14 and into a hayfield about a mile east of Route 7 near Columbiana. The Patrol said he had a minor head injury apparently from the fight rather than from the traffic mishap.

The county sheriff's office reports that the wrecked convertible's operator, Charles Fink, allegedly was struck with a blackjack by Wilbur Summers, manager of The Ranch on Route 14 during a disagreement. The traffic mishap occurred shortly after Fink left the tavern.

Joseph J. Chuey Jr., 22, of RD 1, Lisbon, was cited for speed excessive for conditions after a one-car mishap Saturday at 2:30 a.m. on Route 164, four miles south of Lisbon. Southbound, Chuey went off the left side, smashed through a fence, struck a pole, then returned to the roadway. He was unhurt.

In a two-car mishap Sunday at 12:30 p.m. on Route 62, a half mile east of the Stark County line, Irvin F. Cobb, 41, of Cleveland was arrested for failing to stop in the assured clear distance after his car hit the rear of a station wagon operated by Patricia L. Pizzedaz, 16, of RD 5, Alliance. She was stopped to make a left turn.

The brakes on a car operated by Daniel Short, 55, of Rochester, Pa., failed Saturday night at 8:20 on Route 344, about two miles west of Leetonia, and the vehicle struck a parked car owned by Lawrence Wilms of RD 1, Leetonia. Discovering his brake failure, Short pulled into Wilms' garage to have them checked and plowed into the halted vehicle.

Couple Die In Crash, Leave 12 Children

RONKONKOMA, N.Y. (AP) — "I had to tell the kids their mother and father were dead. Twelve kids. The young ones, they don't really understand yet."

The words of Suffolk County police Sgt. Roy E. Plume also revealed a personal tragedy: The dead father was his brother.

Killed in a head-on auto crash Sunday were Clinton Plume, 42, and his wife, Jean, 35.

The Plumes were the parents of six boys and six girls, ranging in age from 8 months to 17 years.

Police said Plume's car went out of control on Smithtown Boulevard in nearby Nesconset when the left front tire blew out. Driving the other auto was Kare Karlsen, 19, of St. James. One of five passengers in his car, Anne Jensen, 17, of Brooklyn, died Sunday night in Smithtown General Hospital.

On the critical list at the hospital were Karlsen; Miss Jensen's sister, Helga, 20, and Anita Knutsen, 22, also of Brooklyn. In fair condition were Mr. and Mrs. Thorstein Feassness, both 19, of Ronkonkoma.

The Plumes had been driving home from the Ronkonkoma Volunteer Fire Department's annual fair where Plume operated a game and Mrs. Plume served refreshments.

When Sgt. Plume heard of the tragedy he wakened his nephew — the oldest child — Clinton III, 17. Together they told the next oldest child, Jean, 16.

Sgt. Plume also had the task of telling his father that his son and daughter-in-law were dead. "He had a heart attack," he said. "Mild, we think. But he's 64."

Johnson

essed. In the foreign field, Johnson is claiming to be well satisfied about the transition of new American leadership in South Viet Nam, his conferences with Greek and Turkish leaders on the critical Cyprus problem and his first meeting with a Latin American chief of state, President Francisco Orlich of Costa Rica.

When he gets back to the White House — it is not known when the President will end his Texas holiday — Johnson intends to talk with both outside experts and heads of various government departments and agencies about long-term planning in the various domestic fields which he feels need attention.

Guns appeared. Lee Edward Johnson, a 21-year-old white, was shot in the leg with a pistol. "Then a white man reached into his car, pulled out a shotgun and fired two shots," one witness said. "A colored man tried to take it away from him, and it went off again."

Shotgun pellets struck three Negroes: James Hutson, 17; Eugene Sumler, 15, and William Easter, 28.

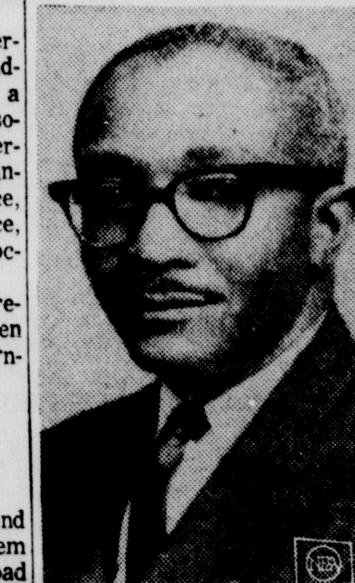

Police said the Negroes then sped to a Texarkana hospital in several cars, lights on and horns blowing. Officers who had learned of the disturbance by short wave radio said the Negroes ran several traffic signals.

They were arrested at the hospital. Easter and Hutson were released after treatment and jailed with the other Negroes. Johnson and Sumler were hospitalized overnight. None was believed seriously hurt. No whites were arrested.

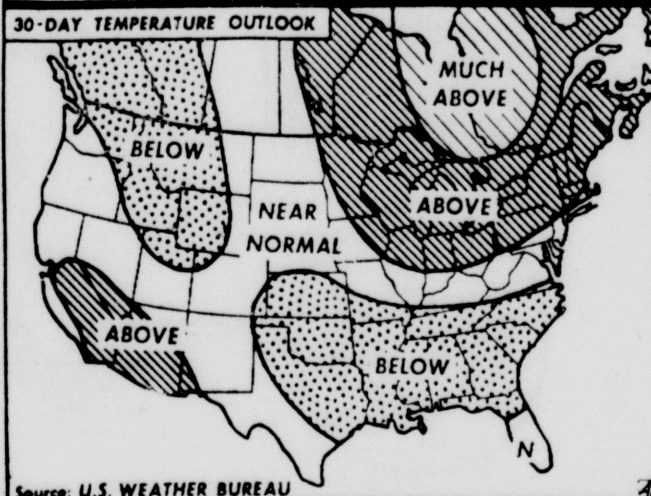

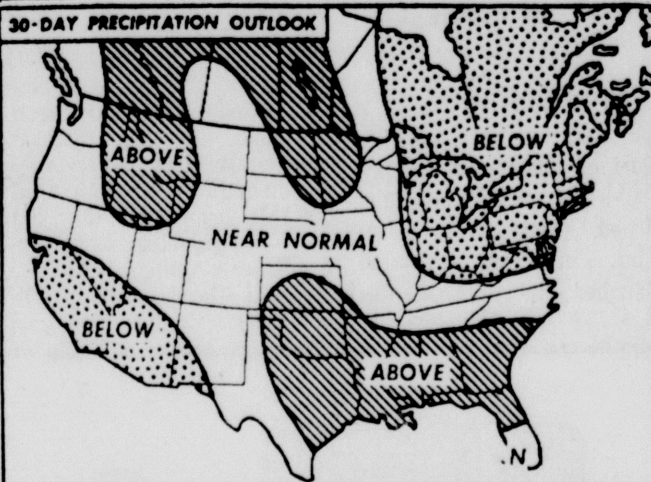

Contracts for supplying gasoline and oil are also expected to be let.

FIREMEN ANSWER CALLS

City firemen made two calls over the weekend. At 11:47 a.m. Saturday, they were summoned to 491 Woodland Ave., where smoke from a chimney was whipped to the ground by wind, making it appear the house was on fire. At 10:15 a.m. Sunday, insulation in a garage at the Eugene Miner residence at 239 S. Lundy Ave., was smoldering. No damage was reported and no cause for the smoldering was given.

4 Wounded

inciting a riot, a sheriff's deputy said.

The Negroes, most from Arkansas, were jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond each set by Judge Wayne Brown.

One white man and three Negroes were wounded in the racial outbreak.

Lake Texarkana is five miles west of this northeastern Texas city on the Arkansas border. Some Negroes had swum in the lake previously without major incident.

Cass County Sheriff Bill Dowd said from 80 to 100 Negroes and 150 to 200 whites were involved. They brandished bottles and hurled rocks that smashed car windows and headlights, Dowd said.

The site was littered with broken glass and other debris. Witnesses report this is what happened:

The Negroes, who had been swimming in the lake for some time, began singing and clapping hands as they waded ashore.

Guns appeared. Lee Edward Johnson, a 21-year-old white, was shot in the leg with a pistol. "Then a white man reached into his car, pulled out a shotgun and fired two shots," one witness said. "A colored man tried to take it away from him, and it went off again."

Shotgun pellets struck three Negroes: James Hutson, 17; Eugene Sumler, 15, and William Easter, 28.

They were arrested at the hospital. Easter and Hutson were released after treatment and jailed with the other Negroes. Johnson and Sumler were hospitalized overnight. None was believed seriously hurt. No whites were arrested.

With Patients

Scott Chepke, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chepke of RD 1, Salem, was treated and released from Alliance City Hospital at 10:45 p.m. Saturday for a lacerated scalp which he sustained in a fall.

Howard Reese, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reese of RD 2, Beloit, lacerated his left foot Saturday on broken glass at his home. He was treated and released from Alliance City Hospital at 3:30 p.m.

Marion Kandel, 20, of Homeworth, injured his left leg while swimming Friday. He was treated at 4:25 p.m. and released from the Alliance hospital.

RESTAURANT LEASED

LISBON — John P. Hollister and his son, James R. Hollister, have leased the Court Restaurant from Lester (Pete) Kenmuir and expect to re-open the business about Aug. 1.

John and his son for the past several years were employed by a food service firm.

John Hollister is a former deputy sheriff. Both reside at 315 N. Market St.

No One Hurt In 5 Traffic Mishaps Here

No injuries resulted from five auto mishaps investigated by city police over the July 4 weekend. However, one driver was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Two accidents were probed on Saturday with the remaining three occurring on Sunday. Several out of town persons were involved in the mishaps.

At 4:15 p.m. Saturday, cars driven by Carey E. Lindsay, 47, of Warren and Ryan E. Snyder, 40, of Columbiana, collided on E. State St., at the intersection of N. Ellsworth Ave.

Police said both cars were westbound on State St. when Lindsay attempted to make a right turn from the left-turn lane, striking Snyder's vehicle which was in the through lane.

At 9:45 p.m. Saturday, a car driven by David Wolfgang, 68, of Columbiana, headed east on Mill St. and turning north onto S. Ellsworth Ave., was struck by an auto going south on Ellsworth and operated by Richard Gamble, 22, of Inona.

According to police, Wolfgang had the right-of-way and his car was hit when the second auto's brakes failed, causing the mishap.

Charles H. Pow, 65, of 388 N. Ellsworth Ave. was driving his auto east on E. 4th St. at 10 a.m. Sunday, when he attempted to turn left onto N. Lincoln Ave. and his vehicle struck a car driven west on 4th St. by Gary L. Wyatt, 19, of 616 Ohio Ave.

At 12:40 p.m. Sunday, Esther A. Bare, 69, of 794 Aetna St. was attempting to back her car into a parking place on E. State St., about 50-feet east of Broadway when her vehicle struck a parked auto owned by B. T. Slagle of Greenville, Pa.

John T. Wern Jr., 19, of 462 Sharp Ave. was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance following a two-car mishap on E. State St. near City Hospital at 6:55 p.m. Sunday.

According to police, Wern was unable to stop his car in a line of traffic and hit the rear of a vehicle operated by John Hirst, 38, of Canfield. Both autos were eastbound.

Fire

turned home and called firemen.

Fire Chief Edward Hruska said he thought the house burned quickly because flaming kerosene was sprayed about after the stove exploded. Those trapped apparently were "asphyxiated on the spot," the chief said. The house burned to the ground.

A relative told authorities electricity in the Mayle house was shut off two months ago because of what he understood was an overdue bill. The Mayles had been cooking on a kerosene stove and using kerosene and oil lamps, authorities said.

Mayle works at the New York Central system's reclamation shop in Ashtabula. He and his wife have seven daughters, five of them married, and four other sons who lived elsewhere. The two daughters living at home also were away when the fire began.

5 New Cases of TB Reported in County

Five new cases of tuberculosis in the county last month were reported by the Tuberculosis Control Clinic.

Dr. F. G. Kravec of Youngstown, director, held 13 consultations during June. He reported five patients were admitted and four were discharged from sanatoriums. Eight patients were started on medication.

The control clinic gave 88 X-rays and 133 Mantoux tests during the month.

There were 16 patients in TB hospitals. One hundred fifty patients in charge of the control clinic are on medication, Dr. Kravec said.

Goldwater

state's situation. He said the delegation will caucus July 13 and might decide on a first-ballot change then but he thought nothing would be done before then.

John L. McElroy, special assistant to the governor, said it was "not true" that Rhodes had released his delegates.

Scranton, Lodge and Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the governor's newly named convention manager, made some noise about delegate gains but nothing tangible came out.

As Scranton and Lodge had done previously, Scott hinted that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower might give the Pennsylvania governor a lift at the convention. Eisenhower has signed up as a television commentator and most politicians think this will make it difficult for him to take sides even if he chooses to do so.

Scott said it is his own judgment that Eisenhower's personal preference for the nominee is Scranton but "whether he says so is his own business."

Scranton, in a joint news conference with Lodge in Harrisburg, Pa., said Eisenhower expressed surprise "that the people of America would question who he (Eisenhower) is for," for the nomination. He said he had phoned the former president to report on the progress of his drive for the nomination.

Scranton opened a last-ditch two-day campaign today in Illinois, building an appeal for support in the home state of Abraham Lincoln around the civil rights issue.

Goldwater, who has been unavailable to newsmen recently, eluded them Sunday when he took off from the Phoenix airport, dressed in his Air Force Reserve major general's uniform, in a private plane for Las Vegas, Nev. There he planned to pick up an Air Force jet to log some flight time to Washington. He will not head for San Francisco until Thursday.

Stand At Firestone

Pool Burglarized

COLUMBIANA — A total of $25 in candy and cigars was taken when the refreshment stand at Firestone Pool was broken into sometime during the night.

Police Chief William McGuckin, who is investigating the case said that entrance was gained by breaking a front window of the stand.

Perry Kyser, park manager, discovered the breaking and entering when he went to open the pool at 9 a.m. today.

Eight Persons Die In Crash Of 2 Vehicles

BOWLING GREEN, Mo. (AP) — Eight persons died Sunday when a car, driven by a man police had arrested earlier for speeding, collided head on with a station wagon.

The dead were: Willie Walker, 45, a Negro of Milwaukee, the car driver; Harold W. Marshall, 48, Kane, Ill., driver of the station wagon; his wife Clara, 47, and their daughter Janice, 24, St. Louis; Herberta Crawford, 34, Kane, a passenger in the Marshall's vehicle, and her sons, David, 4, and Lawrence, 14; and Catherine Goodall, 14, Kane, also a passenger in the station wagon.

Highway patrol Sgt. Paul Volkmer said he arrested Walker 90 minutes before the accident near Mexico, Mo., about 50 miles from the accident scene.

Volkmer said Walker was charged with driving 90 miles an hour in a 65-mile-an-hour zone. He was released after posting a $51 bond.

The accident occurred on U.S. Highway 44, four miles east of Bowling Green.

3 Questions Often Asked By Family Seeking New Home

Is it structurally sound?
Is it easy to keep clean?
Which is my room?

In order, these are the questions a husband, a wife and a teen-ager ask themselves when the family is looking over a new house as a possible purchase.

They aren't by any means the only questions prospective buyers ask. But they probably are the most common, even if sometimes they aren't voiced aloud. The husband cherishes the widely accepted idea that, due to his superior knowledge of things material, he must decide whether the house will stand up under the wear and tear of the years. The wife, having read and heard about the many new surfaces which are easy to maintain, expects to see at least some of them in the new house.

AND THE TEEN-AGER considers nothing more important than having a section of the home, no matter how small, where he can shut himself off from the adult world. (Girls feel the same way about this.) If the man of the house is the least bit do-it-yourself-minded he keeps an eye out for an area where he can locate his workshop. The wife spends considerable time looking over the kitchen, where she knows she'll be doing much of her work. The teen-ager, once satisfied that he has been allotted a room of his own, takes mental note of the house layout to see how it will affect his chores. The size of the lawn, for example, has a definite meaning to him.

ONE THING APPARENT to builders, architects and real estate men is that people are a lot more knowledgeable these days than they used to be about what goes into a house. In the past, most home buyers approved or disapproved on the basis of what they could see. Today, they are interested in things which are not visible, yet are important, such as the amount and kind of insulation. The questions they ask about these things indicate they already have a pretty fair idea of the subject and won't be satisfied with a generalized reply with little actual meaning.

ALL OF THIS IS to the good. Builders who spend the money to install quality materials and products will be encouraged to keep doing so if they are aware that the public knows the difference. And builders who specialize in cutting corners especially on things that can't be seen, may be forced to change their tactics when they realize that buyers are putting up sales resistance to inferior construction.

Patio Booklet Tells How to Build Deck

Plan on moving outdoors this summer? Where will you sit—on the ground? It's so easy to build a lounging deck where the whole family can have a central outdoor enjoyment center.

Actually, building a deck is no chore for a good carpenter and you can design your own floor plan, or you can get an architect, if you plan extensive building.

If you design your own deck, you should plan for good foundation piers, with six-by-six posts for support. Then you need a good framework to support the floor, and this should probably be of 2x12 fir timbers.

The deck offers you plenty of chance for originality. You can build it out of 2x4s or 2x6s. You can lay the 2x4s flat or you can set them on edge. In any case, you must be sure to leave a thin space between each floor board to allow for water runoff.

You can make different patterns with your floor boards, like herringbone weave, boxed squares, diagonal pattern. All of these you will find in the new free booklet called "Patios 'n' Decks" which can be had by writing West Coast Lumbermen's Association, 1410 S.W. Morrison Street, Portland 5, Oregon, and ask for the patio booklet.

Experience Helps Homeowners to Purchase Wisely

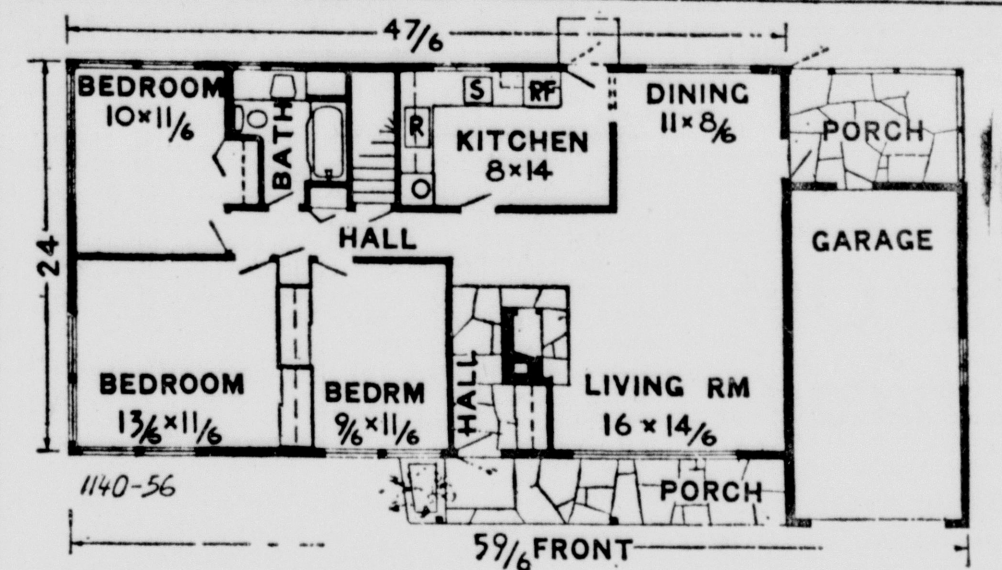

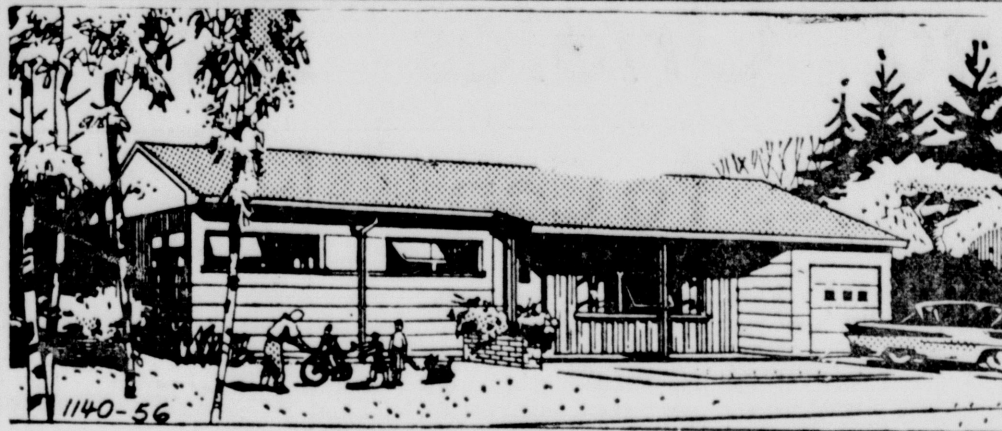

Most real estate people agree that the smartest homebuyers are those who have purchased homes before — they're the ones who really know what to look for. The Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau reports that this wisdom often comes more from what their previous homes didn't have than from what they had — dissatisfaction is an able teacher.

It has been found, for instance, that almost all repeat buyers insist on at least two bathrooms. In most cases, this demand stems from former homes that had "overdemand" for "underfacilities." Anyone who has endured this situation for any period of time will naturally think twice before repeating the mistake.

Another "never again" item that many homeowners steer away from is the small, inadequate kitchen sink. Most homemakers now prefer the double-bowl variety, equipped with food waste disposer. Dishwashing is a much simpler chore with this arrangement, since dishes can be scraped, washed and rinsed in one simple procedure, saving both time and work.

Wise homebuilders have recognized these demands and now build homes with bathroom and kitchen facilities to match. For maximum convenience, in fact, some even provide a bath for every bedroom, and two separate sink installations.

Though inadequate plumbing is often the cause that leads families to search for new quarters, it isn't always necessary to move in order to get satisfaction. More and more homeowners today get the kind of bathrooms and kitchens they want simply by remodeling their present homes.

RANCH HOME for four-season living is constructed with basement of poured concrete walls, poured concrete floor slab, plaster ceilings with insulation, wood stairs to main floor and steel and concrete bulkhead to garden. There are wood frames for all interior and exterior partitions, rafters and ceiling joists. Interior finish is plaster. Exterior siding is horizontal wood, except that on front porch which is vertical redwood siding. Roof is asphalt shingle; floors are wood. The living room has a semifreestanding corner fireplace with a hood over it; the front hall is paved with flagstone. Architect is Jan Reiner, 1000 52nd St. North, St. Petersburg 10, Fla.

Here Are New Products of Interest to Homeowners

THE PRODUCT — A residential aluminum screen door with a colonial white baked - enamel finish.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That this door combines aluminum's low maintenance properties with the appearance of traditional, painted wood; that it can be installed in a matter of minutes because it is prehung in a vinyl cushion Z-bar frame for either right or left hand installations; and that it uses high-quality aluminum screen cloth and a frame with extra reinforcement on the corners.

THE PRODUCT — A new tin chemical which serves as both an antifoulant and a wood preservative, designed specifically for the use in bottom paints that can be applied to any kind of boat hull.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That this chemical is now being put into paint formula-

Bathroom Additions Up-Date Old Homes

If your home is like a lot of others, it has just one bathroom. And if you're like a lot of other people, one's not enough. Regardless of the age of your home, you can give it 1964 bathroom facilities this remodeling season, says the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

Most homeowners don't have to be won over to the merits of additional bathrooms in the home — the everyday "traffic jams" are pretty convincing in themselves. The problem in the minds of most people is not really a problem at all in most cases — where to put an extra bath.

A simple look around the house will often uncover several possibilities. Be sure to bear in mind that areas not large enough for full bathroom installations are often prime targets for powder rooms.

With today's compact fixtures, bathrooms and powder rooms can be installed in surprisingly small areas and still provide complete facilities. Some typical examples are: a large closet, a pantry, space beneath a stairway or a portion of a large room, basement or attic.

lations by many manufacturers; or, that it will not interfere permits paints to be made in a variety of vivid, permanent colors; that it will not interfere with the application of paint by roller, brush or spray; and that it will protect hulls against barnacles, marine borers, algae and dry rot.

THE PRODUCT — A compact portable electric drill that is only 6 1/2 inches long and weighs only 27 ounces.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That this tool, despite its size, is more powerful than many drills which outweigh it by several pounds; that it has a shock-proof, shatter-proof handle; and that what is called "a major breakthrough in portable power tool engineering" has been made possible by utilizing recent developments in electronics engineering.

THE PRODUCT — A small, floor patch kit for correcting sub-floor irregularities before installing tiles.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That the mixture in this kit, part liquid latex and part powder, is sufficient for leveling a 10 - square - foot area 1-16th of an inch thick with a highly water-resistant adhesive excellent for bonding tiles to surfaces of wood, metal, concrete or masonry; that no separate mixing tub is required, since the original carton has been designed to serve as a mortar mixing box.

When building a house that you plan to expand at some later time, you can save money by having the plumber install the necessary pipes at the start rather than pay expensive installation costs later on when a lot of tearing-down will have to be done.

Install "SLP-X" Safety Treads and bathe in comfort and safety. Soft, resilient, textured-rubber strips with permanent adhesive backing. Easily installed, won't mildew, no special cleaning.

Athletics Hand Orioles 3-1 Setback; Yanks Lose

Tigers Sweep Doubleheader

Boston Defeats Los Angeles 9-6

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Manny Jimenez, the rambunctious revolutionary, still may have problems, but he won't get any sympathy from the Baltimore Orioles. Jimenez powered the lowly Kansas City Athletics to a 3-1 victory over the American League leading Orioles Sunday less than 24 hours after he ripped Baltimore pitching for three home runs in five innings.

The 25-year-old native of the Dominican Republic doubled home two runs and scored the third as the Athletics climbed out of the cellar for only the second day in more than a month.

Jimenez has experienced assorted difficulties since his rookie season in 1962 when Athletics' owner Charles O. Finley ordered him to hit home runs.

His latest problem came early last month when the Athletics decided to ship him to the minors. "I quit," the volatile Jimenez threatened. "I will not report. I think I'm a better ball player than others they have on this club. I don't want to go back to the minors. I will go home first."

However, Jimenez agreed to report to Dallas of the Pacific Coast League, perhaps after recalling home as he left in the spring. That's when the outfielder was fined $200 for reporting late to spring training.

"I have to fight in revolution," he said at the time, trying to explain his tardiness.

But Jimenez survived the revolution and Dallas. In fact, although his batting average is a mediocre .241, he's hitting .283 since his return to Kansas City.

In other American League action, Detroit swept Washington 7-6 and 3-0 and Boston downed Los Angeles 9-6.

Pitcher John O'Donoghue and George Williams singled in the third before Jimenez doubled. Rocky Colavito then singled in Jimenez. Bob Johnson homered in the third for Baltimore. O'Donoghue gave up five other hits until he needed relief help from Wes Stock in the ninth.

Harmon Killebrew clouted his 30th home run and added three singles as the Twins stopped Whitey Ford's 10-game winning streak, handing the ace southpaw his first defeat since opening day. Tony Oliva contributed two doubles and a single to Minnesota's 19-hit attack.

The White Sox increased their shutout mastery over the Indians to three straight games. Juan Pizarro scattered seven hits in the opener as Mike Hershberger and Pete Ward slammed consecutive homers with two outs in the first inning. Cleveland's Jack Kralick allowed only two more hits the rest of the way.

Joel Horlen came back with a four-hitter in the nightcap, permitting the Indians just two hits after the second inning. Horlen aided his own cause by squeezing home a run with a bunt in the second inning.

Joe Sparna hurled a four-hitter for the Tigers in the second game. He also led the offensive punch against the Senators, driving in two runs with a triple in the fifth and scoring on Billy Bruton's double.

Errors by Don Blasingame and Jim King helped Detroit score three runs and break a 4-4 tie in the fifth inning of the opener. Don Zimmer's two-run homer in the ninth brought Washington to within one run. Chuck Hinton connected with one on for the Senators in the third.

Boston won a slugfest from the Angels on Tony Conigliaro's three-run homer in the eighth. Willie Smith's run-scoring single in the seventh, but Dick Stuart had given the Angels a 6-5 lead in the seventh, but Dick Stuart tied it minutes later with a home run. Smith previously drove in two runs with a single and scored a run after lashing a triple.

Nicklaus Rallies To Cop Whitmarsh Open Title

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP) — "Congratulations Jack, you've won," a well wisher told Jack Nicklaus in the locker room at the Whitmarsh Valley Country Club Sunday.

Nicklaus eyed the visitor and inquired:

"Has anyone told Arnie?"

Arnold Palmer at that moment was playing the 17th hole and was three strokes behind Nicklaus, who had posted a four-round 12-under-par 276 in the Whitmarsh Open.

"It would be just like him to knock in an eagle and a birdie and tie the thing," Nicklaus said.

It was typical of the respect

Palmer's colleagues feel for the biggest money winner of them all. Throughout the $125,000 Whitmarsh Open, the leaders always seemed to look back over their shoulder and inquire, "Where's Palmer?"

Palmer didn't make it this time. Nicklaus' five-under-par 69 final round erased the six stroke 54-hole lead held by Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, and won him the $24,000 first prize.

Nicklaus edged Player by one stroke Sunday after both came from way back to take the big money. Player, who earned $16,000 for second place, made up five strokes on the field in the final round.

Player finished with a 69-70-69-69—277, one stroke ahead of Palmer who had a 68-70-67-73. Nicklaus had rounds of 69-70-70-67.

Indians Shut Out Twice By Chicago

CLEVELAND (AP) — If the Cleveland Indians had a team band, its theme song might be a combination of "never on Sunday" and "Look for the Silver Lining."

The Tribe's Sunday record now is 4-15, including Sunday's double shutout defeats by the Chicago White Sox, 2-0 and 5-0. It was the sixth doubleheader loss this year and left the Indians in eighth place, 14 games behind the first-place Baltimore Orioles.

Prospects for the future conjure up a guy trying to navigate a canoe through the rapids without a paddle. During their next 19 games, the Indians face the Orioles eight times and the New York Yankees seven times.

Cleveland's credentials for such an undertaking aren't impressive. The Indians haven't scored a run in their last 27 innings and haven't made more than two hits in an inning in their last 76.

On June 3 the Tribe was in third place, three games behind the Orioles. Since then the Indians have won only 11 of 37. This only the second time in 12 years the Indians have been below .500 at the All-Star game break.

Chicago pitchers gave up 11 hits Sunday as Juan Pizarro (11-4) allowed seven in the opener and Joel Horlen (6-5) gave up only four.

Jack Kralick (8-4), Cleveland's only contribution to the American League All-Star team, allowed the Sox a meager four hits in the opener, but two were back-to-back homers by Massillon's Mike Hershberger and by Pete Ward in the first inning.

The Indians left nine runners stranded and loaded the bases twice but couldn't score. Vic Davalillo made the third out each time and was responsible for leaving seven men on base.

The Sox scored a run on two hits in the first inning of the nightcap against Lee Stange and followed up with two runs in the second. It was Stange's first start for the Tribe and his eighth loss (second with the Indians) in 11 decisions. He came to Cleveland in the trade for pitcher Jim Grant.

Brown's No-Hitter Paces Elks To 4-3 Victory Over Bankers

Bob Brown tossed a no-hitter as Elks knocked off Shaffer Ford 11-1 while Sekely nipped Farmers Bank 4-3 in Class F action at Memorial Park Friday.

VFW put together three five-run innings to hand CIO 3372 a 15-1 setback, and Bliss was awarded a forfeit at Centennial Park.

Scot Riffle pulled off an unassisted double play to feature Bricker's 7-4 victory over Eagles, and Italian Club clipped Petrucci's 7-3 in Class G competition.

Hobbycraft tallied 19 runs in the first two innings and went on to trim Merchants Vending 21-9, CIO 1538 defeated Cherry Hill 23-9, and Jaycees beat Stark's Colonial Attic 14-2 in Class H.

Brown struck out 13 and walked four batters. His Elks' teammates gave him a 6-0 lead by the end of the fourth inning.

Tom Herron collected three singles and Greg Cline two hits to spark the winners.

Sekely rallied in the bottom of the ninth for its win over Farmer's Bank. The winners scored on a pair of errors and a double by Jack Shoff.

Scott Clark, Bob Mackey, and Shoff paced the winners with two hits apiece. Ron Albright led the losers with a double and a pair of singles.

Scott Brook and Jack Mack, who had a pair of singles, scor-

The Indians are idle until Thursday when they meet Baltimore here in a two-night doubleheader.

Phils Sweep Series, Beat Giants Again

By HAL BOCK

Whoosh!

The gusty wind that shook San Francisco over the weekend wasn't one of Candlestick Park's ordinary breezes. It was created by Gene Mauch's All-Starless Philadelphia Phillies, who blew right past the Giants into first place in the National League.

The Phillies, who failed to place a man higher than third in the voting for the NL All-Star team, looked like first stringers Sunday as they completed a three-game sweep of the Giants with a 2-1 victory.

There was Richie Allen, whose five hits had sparked the first two victories Friday and Saturday, making two putouts on one play as some loose base running broke the back of a Giant rally in the seventh inning.

There was Jack Baldschun, Jack Baldschun, completed his second save of the big series and ninth of the season by striking out Willie Mays with the tying run on base in the eighth. He also set the Giants down in order in the ninth, fanning four of the six batters he faced.

The clutch play of Sunday's game came in the seventh with Dennis Bennett nursing a 2-1 Phillie lead after Jim Hart's leadoff homer. Bennett struck out Orlando Cepeda but the slugger reached first when the third strike got away. Jesus Alou followed with a single, moving Cepeda to third.

When Del Crandall bounced to Allen, the rookie third baseman caught Cepeda in a rundown and eventually tagged him out. Crandall dashed for second and Alou went to third while the Phillies were chasing Cepeda.

Allen, attempting to get Crandall, fired to second and Alou suddenly broke toward the plate. The Giant rookie was caught in a rundown and eventually tagged out by Allen, completing a double play.

In other NL games, St. Louis topped Cincinnati 3-1, Milwaukee whacked Chicago 7-1, Los Angeles blanked New York 5-0 and Pittsburgh smacked Houston 7-1.

Sandy Koufax won his eighth straight and 12th of the season as the Dodgers moved into a fifthplace tie with St. Louis. Koufax, who has allowed only six runs in 69 innings during the streak, got batting support from Willie Davis who drove in three runs with a homer and a double.

Seventh inning singles by Bob Skinner and Tim McCarver broke a 1-1 tie and gave the Cardinals their victory.

Roger Craig, who allowed 10 hits, went the distance for his fifth victory against four losses. Joey Jay, 4-5, pitched a six-hitter but lost.

Wade Blasingame won his first major league game, hurling an eight-hitter against the Cubs. Mike de la Hoz hammered his first NL homer and Joe Torre clubbed a pair of doubles as the Braves routed All-Star pitcher Dick Ellsworth.

Farrell, trying for the fifth time to win his 11th game, had a four-hitter for seven innings before Lynch's two-run shot put the Pirates in front in the eighth. Pittsburgh scored five more in the ninth.

Beaver Valley Polo Team Triumphs 9-5

Phil Thompson and Jim Watson of Columbiana scored four and three points, respectively, to pace Beaver Valley Polo Club to a 9-5 victory over Lancaster at Darlington, Pa., Saturday.

The winners, 6-2, will take on Mahoning Valley riders at Darlington this Saturday. The teams have split a pair of contests so far this season.

Rested National League Hurlers Should Have All-Star Advantage

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National League leads the American League 2-0 in rested pitchers going into Tuesday's All-Star Game.

Of the 15 hand-picked pitchers for the All-Star classic, 13 saw action during the weekend, leaving the National League with a distinct advantage in its bid to even the over-all series between the leagues at 17 victories each.

Walt Alton of the Los Angeles Dodgers, manager of the National League team, had Don Drysdale of the Dodgers and Philadelphia's Chris Short sufficiently rested.

But Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, the American League skipper, had a cupboard like Mother Hubbard's. It was suggested that Lopez line his pitchers up and call for volunteers to take one step forward. The starting assignment was to go to the last man stepping backward.

In the absence of such a maneuver, Lopez was expected to tap Minnesota right-hander Camilo Pascual for the opening shot on the mound while Alton was expected to nominate Drysdale, also a right-hander, since both line-ups are stacked with right-handed hitters.

Some 40,000 tickets have been sold for the 35th All-Star Game, to be held for the first time at the new, 55,000-seat Shea Stadium. The game at noon, EST, will be televised nationally.

Two American League stars already have been declared out of the game, and there is a strong possibility that quite a few of the outstanding pitchers in the majors will spend the day in the bullpen.

Reserve outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit was ruled out when the Tigers notified the American League that he had suffered a severely bruised left ankle in Saturday's game. Rocky Colavito of Kansas City will replace him. Earlier, Boston shortstop Eddie Bressoud replaced Baltimore's Luis Aparicio, who is nursing a pulled groin muscle.

The pitching situation has been the same story for many years, prompting Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Mets who will be one of the National League's coaches, to suggest that baseball pass a rule prohibiting use of All-Star pitchers the Sunday before the game.

A Drysdale - Pascual duel would match two pitchers with 0-1 All-Star records. Drysdale, 11-7 during the regular season, has been effective in All-Star action despite his record, allowing only six hits with a 2.45 earned run average in four games. Pascual has allowed four hits in six All-Star innings with a 3.00 ERA.

The result of the game, how-

24 Arrested In Canton Disturbance

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Ten adults and 14 juveniles, all Negroes, were arrested and charged following a scuffle over a sidewalk incident in front of a roller skating rink.

The scuffle broke out Saturday night when some youths, authorities said, refused to heed a police order to stop blocking a sidewalk in front of the Pathfinder Roller Rink.

Five policemen went to the aid of the two officers normally on duty at the rink in the predominantly Negro section to quell the disturbance.

Those arrested were jailed on charges ranging from resisting arrest and assaulting a police officer to obstructing a public sidewalk.

Officers said this was the first outbreak at the rink, although friction had been building up for some time among groups of men and women from Massillon, Canton and Waynesburg. They said an argument over such things as what girl preceded the scuffle.

DOG DONATED TO CHARITY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County Cancer Society reported that one volunteer fund collector returned to headquarters with the money she had collected — and a dog.

She said the man of one of the families she called on had offered the animal. Several hours later, officials said, a woman called and offered a dog back. The trade was made.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Don't throw old beds away!

1. They can be cut down for children's beds.

2. They can be used as dog beds—dogs love them and they are warm.

3. If the Jacquard type, they can be made into attractive cedar chest covers or for throw covers on old chairs.

4. They can be used to cover washing machines and dryers. 5. You can make curtains for basement windows. Heavy and durable, they wash like magic and need no ironing.

6. Keep one in your car... good for cold days or picnicking.

7. When they are beyond repair... keep them for those painting jobs—use as throw sheets on floors to catch splattered paint.

8. Cut them to fit baby's play pen. Reusable and washable and so comfy for baby.

9. If you have a swing or glider on your porch—just throw a spread on it and my, what a difference.

10. Children can use these in their play as curtains for their house or for table cloths for the play table.

11. Man and boys can take them on camping or fishing trips.

12. Last but not least, use them for sun bathing... no worry about grass stains.

JANET HEYL.

DEAR HELOISE: Since a hot water bottle is sometimes comforting, why not a cold water bottle? I really suffer in hot weather so I keep a hot water bottle filled with water in my refrigerator during the daytime.

By night it is well chilled but not iced. I take this to bed with me and it really does cool me off.

HOT WEATHER HATER.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's my little hint—I have found that the spring and summer is a good time to break in new bath towels.

In the winter, a person wants to dry the body thoroughly (and a new towel is not as absorbent as an older one). In the summer it is so darned hot that you don't care whether you get dry or not!

Also, in the summer I run cold water into the tub first, then add as much hot water as I want.

In the winter, I run hot water into the tub first (it helps warm up the bathroom) then add the cold water.

M.S.

DEAR HELOISE: For daily grapefruit... an absolutely perfect bowl is a rice bowl which one can purchase at dime stores, gift shops, etc. They are very attractive and hold the grapefruit perfectly. The other half can be covered with foil and stored in the refrigerator.

Works like a charm and is attractive.

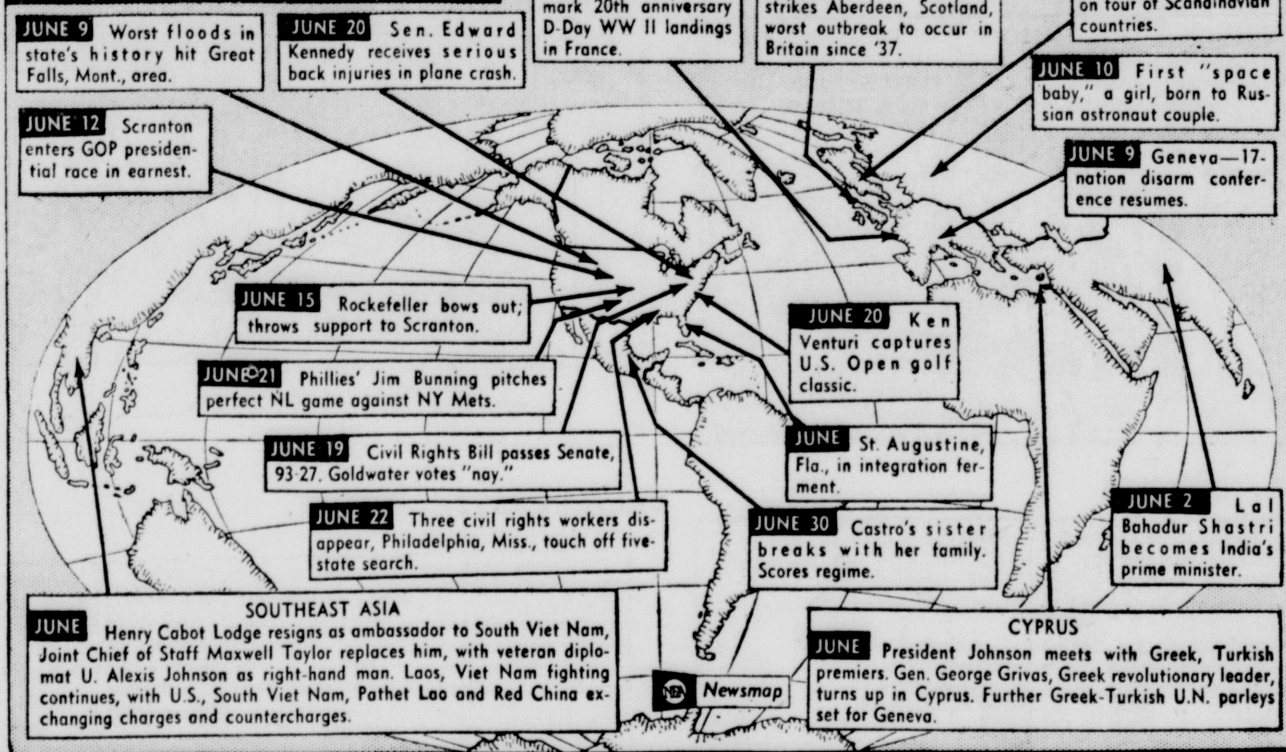

LOUISE K. CARR.

DEAR LOUISE: You are terrific! It never occurred to me how perfectly the grapefruit fit into a rice bowl, and I'm so glad to find a really practical use for mine.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When we are traveling or going picnicking, I stick a corsage pin with a bright colored head into the roll of paper towels or tissue to keep it from unrolling. The bright pin is easily seen and every effective.

MARGIE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep a very large square hat box on a top shelf in my closet. When I find things on sale during the year, or am given articles which I cannot use, I put them in the hat box.

When a birthday or other special event comes up, I can usually find something in my treasure box to bring a little happiness to a friend or relative.

URNS SELF INTO TORCH

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland man who police say was despondent over the recent loss of a girl friend and the drowning of a friend doused himself with gasoline and turned himself into a human torch.

Alex Nagy Jr., 30, died several hours after he ignited a rolled-up paper and set himself ablaze in his front yard Sunday. Fifteen neighbors looked on in apparent horror as the flame-engulfed Nagy cried out: "Help me! help me!"

FIRE DESTROYS MARKET

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Loss is estimated at $300,000 to an East Side supermarket destroyed by a fire which sent canned goods exploding 50 to 60 feet into the air.

Cause of Sunday's blaze was not determined, billows of smoke from the fire were seen from as far as 10 miles away. No one was reported injured.

HANGED IN CELL

CLEVELAND (AP)—A corner's ruling was awaited in the death of Neil J. Hope, 32, found hanging in a jail cell in Euclid Sunday.

Police making routine rounds found the body of Hope, a piano player at a Cleveland burlesque house (Roxy Theater). He had been arrested Saturday night for intoxication after a domestic quarrel at his Euclid home, police said.
